Pursuant to the terms and conditions of the Grant/Award, this Authorization:

Back ground:

Through the following initiative, the University of Alaska will support the development of advanced tracks for allied health workers who already hold licensure or certification in a discipline. The University will prepare them to assume higher level, including supervisory, positions in their health organizations. These supervisory and clinically advanced positions have not typically been available to rural residents. Initial funding for this project was $13,914.00.

Health Science module update: The University conducted a project evaluation of the Rural Sanitation Project during April-June 2010. The findings will be used to improve/expand the content and delivery of the sanitation modules, which will then be administered to high school youth groups and rural maintenance workers. A subset of rural sanitation trainees called peer leaders will be selected and further trained to lead sanitation module training.

This purpose of this amendment is to extend the project performance period to June 30, 2012 and increase the budget by $34,300.00 in order for the University of Alaska to continue module development and implementation of the Rural Sanitation Training Project.

Outcomes:

To facilitate module training by peer-leaders using a mobile sanitation kit (to be developed within the scope of this project). Components of the kit will include an inexpensive, basic laptop and projector, a module DVD, a collapsible display board, facilitator and participant guides, and worksheet materials. Funds will be applied toward facilitator time, facilitator travel, peer-leader travel, peer-leader training, and kit supplies.
